Introduction

The Colorado State Archives maintains records from the State and Territory of Colorado, counties, municipalities, special districts, private entities and a few federal agencies.

Many of their records have been indexed and can be searched through the Historical Records Database. Each of the record sets that are available in the database has a description that should help you decide if an individual record will have the information you are looking for.

Many more record sets have not been indexed to date. This list of our holdings will help you get an idea of what's available.

During the 50 years the Colorado State Archives has been collecting and archiving items, there may be records listed here that have been lost, stolen or returned to the original owner. There are also items without call numbers. These records are not necessarily lost, but they do require more research. They may still be in the archives, but have been misplaced.

Items may be repeated. Oftentimes, items are listed in more than one research book, so they may have been indexed more than once. Future editions will eliminate the repeated listings.

Occasionally, the scans were hard to read and a "?" was placed in the listing. Future editions will correct these listings.

Right now, the State Agencies section includes only the Department of Education and the Department of Corrections. These are the two agencies that have the most frequently requested files. Other state agencies will follow in later editions.

The court records are complete except for the Supreme Court. A more complete listing of the Supreme Court holdings will follow in future publications.

Most listings for Denver will be found under the City & County of Denver.

How to Read the Call Numbers

Each record set has been given a call number which will help the staff to retrieve items for you.

A 4, 5 or 6 digit number alone indicates a box: e.g. 22255. A set of numbers in a series indicates that all of these boxes (or volumes) belong to one record set: e.g. 20155-20170, GR410-GR411, etc. A 4, 5 or 6 digit number followed by "Vol" indicates that the item is a Volume (a book, ledger or journal).

A set of numbers that begins with the letter "S" indicates that the item is stored in Simla. You will need to make arrangements to have that item retrieved before you can access it. It may be up to two months from the time you make the request until the staff makes the next run to retrieve items at Simla.

A set of numbers beginning with a letter other than "S" indicates that the item(s) is on film.

Searching Records

You may conduct research at the Colorado State Archives using Open records at their offices at 1313 Sherman St in Denver. The Archives staff can perform research for you for a fee. Their fees are listed on their website. Closed records cannot be accessed without the permission of the owners of the records, and sometimes the courts. Many records with the designation Closed that include individual records more than 100 years old can be accessed as if they were Open records.

Ordering Records

You may order a copy of a record by using the Colorado State Archives Historical Records Index Search page, or by sending an email through their email records request form. You will find more detailed instructions for placing an order on those pages along with a description of search fees and copying costs.

Acknowledgments

A big thank goes to the staff at the Colorado State Archives. The former State Archivist, Terry Kettelsen helped get this project rolling, and the current State Archivist, George Orłowski has helped to see it through. Each and every member of the staff has helped to pull records, answer questions, and put up with having their finding aids out of the office in order to have them scanned, making them available for the Colorado Council of Genealogical Societies to work with to produce this quick index.

Many thanks to the following groups and the people who contributed to the Finding Aids Scanning Project: Colorado Council of Genealogical Societies (and each of the member societies that make up the Council), Colorado Genealogical Society, CIG (Computer Interest Group), Boulder Genealogical Society, and WISE (Wales, Ireland, Scotland, England).

A special thank you to Carol Darrow and Sandy Ronayne for helping with this quick index.

A Word from the Project Coordinator

This version of the Quick Index is a work in progress. As more of the finding aids are indexed, new versions of this guide will be made available. I felt that an interim version would still be useful to researchers and we have given priority to those records most requested by genealogists and local historians.

It has been a pleasure working with the staff at the Colorado State Archives to make the finding aids available in places other than in their research room in Denver. I am also grateful to the Colorado Council of Genealogical Societies for providing the funding to have the finding aids scanned, and to Morrell Graphics in Lafayette, Colorado for doing the scanning.

Sincerely,

Dina C. Carson,
Project Coordinator

Cities

Cities such as Denver can be a challenge to categorize. You will find listings for Denver under Denver, City & County of Denver and in our County holdings under Denver County. Denver was also once a part of Arapahoe County. There are also areas that are considered Denver today, but would have been called Montview, Colfax or Barnum in days past.

Early Denver-Area Cities

Argo

Barnum

Berkeley

Colfax

Elyria

Globeville

Harman

Highlands

Montclair

North Denver

South Denver

Valverde

Westwood

Colorado also has many cities that have the same name as the county they are in such as Denver, Boulder, and Gunnison. You may have to search both the city and county holdings for these cities. The listings for Cities do not include our holdings in the Courts or Schools.

Counties

A wide variety of records are produced on a County rather than a City or local level. Colorado also has many cities that have the same name as the county they are in such as Denver, Boulder, and Gunnison. You may have to search both the city and county holdings for records. The listings for Counties do not include holdings in the Courts or Schools.

Colorado has 64 counties. Original counties are in bold.

Courts

The Colorado State Archives has court holdings from the Colorado Supreme Court and Court of Appeals, as well as courts from the counties. One difficulty in searching the court records is the transfer of responsibilities among the district, county, justice, justice of the peace and probate courts. In the list below, counties in bold have probate files, and counties in italics have naturalization files. Record sets concerning probates and naturalizations will begin with those terms. Counties with both will be listed in bold italics.

The Supreme Court, Appeals Court and a few listings from the US District Court are found at the end of this section. The Supreme Court listing is only a partial listing at this time. A full listing will be included with subsequent issues. The US District Court records are also listed with Jefferson County as well, as that is what county they are filed under.

Some court records are closed and only available with a court order such as juvenile cases and adoptions, or to the parties directly involved such as recent divorce cases.

Education

The Colorado State Archives' holdings in Education are records from school districts by county, as well as the State Department of Education (see the section of State Agencies). Most counties have School Census Records available for research, as well as District files that describe activities, teaching methods, organization and re-organization. These records also contain information on teachers, including teaching certificates and licensure.

The counties in bold have education files at the Colorado State Archives:

Adams	Alamosa	Arapahoe
Archuleta	Baca	Bent
